

Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 28 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Showers becoming longer spells of rain, some heavy and thundery.

Today:

Showers likely developing during the morning, these bringing a low risk of thunder. Showers will merge into longer spells of rain, these will likely become heavy and thundery. Breezy with a fresh feel especially along the south coast. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:

Showers should tend to ease into the evening. Remaining breezy but with clear spells overnight as it becomes largely dry. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Thursday:

A bright start but with patchy cloud developing during the morning. A risk of the odd light shower breaking out in the afternoon and evening. Warm. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:

Rather changeable with spells of heavy rain at times, followed by brighter periods with a continued risk of showers. Generally mild or warm.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.